For the Jewish Federation and United Jewish Foundation of Metropolitan Detroit, 2002/2003 was a year of challenges to meet and promises to keep. It was a year for positive thinking and creative solutions — a year that tested leadership, staff, and volunteers, as well as the agencies that count on our support to provide vital services to the community.

In line with market conditions, this was a year of continued losses in our endowment's investment returns, compounded by increased demands on our reserves. Despite an aggressive fundraising goal and a significant increase in our Annual Campaign achievement, our community's needs exceeded available dollars with the result being reduced allocations to agencies both at home and overseas.

Overall, we are proud to report that our community is moving forward. After a year of economic downturn, we continue to achieve and grow. Through the extraordinary efforts of our community working together, we have met and surpassed ambitious goals in our Annual Campaign. Thanks to the generosity of Nancy and Stephen Grand, as well as other donors in our community, our Grand Challenge Fund far exceeded its goal of $4 million.

Through gifts to the Grand Challenge Emergency Fund designated for urgent needs in Israel, we continued to keep children safe in extended-day programs in twelve elementary schools throughout Israel, serving over 2,000 youngsters. We continued our vital work in Detroit's Partnership 2000 region of the Central Galilee, allocating funds to support Israel's most vulnerable populations of older adults, new Israelis, and those making aliyah from Argentina. Here in Michigan, we hosted 200 Israeli teens for a summer they'll always remember at Camp Tamarack.

Moving forward, in response to our family ties to the State of Israel and a strong desire to be there, we launched Federation's Michigan Miracle Mission 4, scheduled for April 18-28, 2004. Plans are underway, with the goal of 800 participants sharing an experience of a lifetime next year in Jerusalem.

To our family of agencies, we added the Jewish Academy of Metropolitan Detroit and celebrated the graduation of its first senior class. Expanding care facilities for older adults in the community, we began construction of the Dorothy and Peter D. Brown Memory Care Pavilion, scheduled to open in January 2004. Responding to the growing needs of Jewish Family Service, and with the generous support of the Joseph and Graham Orley families, we launched an $8 million capital campaign to build a new facility in West Bloomfield. Serving students in East Lansing, we opened the new Lester J. Morris Hillel Student Center at Michigan State University.

Building on extraordinary individual and corporate gifts to our Millennium Campaign for Detroit's Jewish Future, we have transformed both the D. Dan & Betty Kahn Building on the Eugene and Marcia Applebaum Jewish Community Campus and the Jimmy Prentis Morris Building on the A. Alfred Taubman Jewish Community Campus. By year's end, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Judaic Enrichment Center will open the gateway to the David B. Hermelin ORT Resource Center and Shalom Street, our new address for Jewish discovery, made possible through the generous support of the Ford Motor Company Fund.

Thanks to the generosity of those who envision the future of the Detroit Jewish community, our Jewish Life Fund, established by gifts to the Millennium Campaign, supports Jewish family programs, Israel experiences for young people, Jewish learning, and opportunities for leadership. To the roster of community leaders and philanthropists who initiated the Millennium Campaign, we added Robert A. Stewart, whose gift supports our community's endowed Israel Scholarship Fund.

In times of economic adversity, affecting all charitable institutions, in times that have caused greater human need in our community and especially in Jewish communities around the world, our Federation has stepped up to meet its commitments and continue building for the future.

But the crisis has also sharpened the need for us to concentrate on two priorities: to build our financial reserves and to involve many more young men and women in the work of our community.

To this end, we have established The Detroit Legacy Fund, a restricted endowment to secure our community's future. Through this special campaign, we will ask our supporters to designate the United Jewish Foundation as a beneficiary in their estate plans.

We in Detroit are also experiencing a transition in our leadership, which calls for us to involve our younger generations to take on leadership and decision making roles throughout the community. The James and Nancy Grosfeld Leadership Program is one example of the ways we can motivate our young people. This year's program supported 18 participants in training to take future leadership roles and culminated with a 7-day mission to Kiev and Poland. Programs such as these are only a beginning. Our work must continue with new resolve and energy.

There is a fine line between excellence and mediocrity in the efforts we make to build Jewish life in our community, throughout North America and around the world. Here in Detroit we are fortunate that we have an opportunity to choose. Let us continue to choose excellence, as we move forward.

“Thank you.”

“Words cannot express the joy I felt the day my daughter became a Bat Mitzvah. My experience at the Melton School helped make this milestone perfect in every way.”

“There are no words to thank you enough for all that you have done for us. You all have been our salvation. If ever you need any kind of testimonial, praising the care and quality of your program or the incredible caliber of professionalism, conscientiousness, and kindness of your staff, you can count on my contribution.”

“Educating our children is the key to a better life in Israel today, and we have the Detroit community to thank. Through your direct involvement in our schools, you’ve ensured our continued success of Parents and Children Together (PACT).”

“I would like to express my most sincere gratitude for affording me the opportunity to participate in what will surely be one of the most memorable experiences of my life. Who could have imagined that Jewish people still live in the Ukraine?”

The program that was prepared for us during our visit, allowed us to see these hidden gems. What was clear to me is that no matter where you are in the world, Jews are Jews. The sense of identity, the fight for education, the strength of community, and the call for philanthropy is what we are about.”

Participant in Grosfeld Young Leadership Mission

“We are all ‘banim’ and ‘bonim’ (builders). We are individuals that have benefited from those before us who have provided opportunities that contribute to who we are as people. But we then have an obligation to be builders – to recognize our capacity to give and have the courage to actualize our potential in everything that we do. In that way, we increase a sense of shalom, wholeness, in the world.”

The guiding principle of Federation's Annual Campaign has always been that we are one: one people, one community, one family, and through one gift we stand united, we speak with a common voice, and we are heard.

In 2002/2003 our voice was urgent. Rising unemployment. Increasing requests for financial assistance. Growing demand for senior housing. Emergency calls for counseling and family services. These were our challenges on the home front. Far worse, the reports from our brothers and sisters in Israel were alarming. Not since the creation of the Jewish state had we seen Israel so torn by war, in such deep economic crisis, and so insecure in her future.

This was the environment in which we launched Federation's 2003 Annual Campaign, with veterans at the helm, campaign co-chairs Nancy Grand, serving in the position for an unprecedented third year, and Douglas Bloom in his second year of service to the Campaign.

The primacy of the 2003 Annual Campaign was all the more apparent as we came to understand that the needs of our community were far greater than what any year's campaign dollars could address. How could we do more with less? With so much at stake on the success of the Campaign, hundreds of volunteers and thousands of donors made extraordinary efforts to make every call, every solicitation, and every dollar count. And stretch. And work harder than ever.

Highlights:

On a Super Sunday unlike any we have ever seen, and with the generous support of sponsor DaimlerChrysler, more than 450 volunteers made thousands of calls in appeal for Federation's Annual Campaign, using every available phone line at both the Max M. Fisher Federation Building and the Jimmy Prentis Morris Jewish Community Center on the A. Alfred Taubman Campus in Oak Park. And the community came through for a total of $750,000 in pledges.

Drawing a crowd of almost 700 on behalf of the Annual Campaign in November, Harvard law professor, civil libertarian, and prominent author, Alan Dershowitz, addressed the community on "Why Terrorism Works."

All in a day's work: in two separate events the Women's Campaign and Education Department raised a total of $2.75 million. The annual Pomegranate Event drew 65 women, each pledging $1,800 to $5,000 to the Campaign.

The Ruby and Lion of Judah Annual Recognition weighed in the following day with a power breakfast, where 150 women pledged a total of $2.5 million.

The event that's become a holiday tradition, Federation's Young Adult Division can count on Latkes and Vodka to mix, mingle and raise funds.

March madness: with hundreds of volunteers, some working nearly round-the-clock, Federation declared an Israel Emergency Month in March. Campaign Countdown wrapped up the month in a five-day phonathon, with agency volunteers and leadership reaching thousands of households to raise over $450,000.

For all ways to be involved in the Jewish community, there are doors into Federation. For events, updates, missions news, views, and stories, please visit online www.thisisfederation.org

Ready for a new crop of 5th graders each year, Federation's hands-on Tzedakah Experience and Penny Harvest introduces the basic principles of giving and receiving, as well as putting Federation dollars to work at local agencies. The event drew almost 900 parents, children and agency representatives in attendance.

On Federation's Mitzvah Day, December 25th, some 800 volunteers – many of them children – spread cheer and good will across the metro area. Volunteers served meals, visited residents in nursing homes, and filled in for staff in more than 33 social service agencies and locations.

Big Megillah! For a new spin on its annual Threads fundraising event, (formerly called CHOICES), the Women's Campaign and Education Department hosted a breakfast with a presentation of "Esther," a one-woman show with Israeli performance artist, Gabriella Lev.

Noshin' hamantashen and sharing the magic of Purim, the Young Adult Division (YAD) sponsored a Daniel Sobel Friendship Circle celebration geared to children with special needs.

Headlining Federation Forum, Heath J. Meriwether, publisher of the Detroit Free Press addressed an audience of nearly 200 on "Striking a Balance," reflecting on his recent trip to Israel.

In celebration of the power of women to create positive change, the Jewish Women's Foundation held its first annual "Women Lighting the Way," honoring Penny B. Blumenstein, Federation's first woman to serve as president.

In "Search for the Oldest Members of the Jewish Community" Federation's ElderLink hosted a luncheon honoring twenty-four "oldest adults" (ages 95 and up) at the Fleischman Residence/ Blumberg Plaza on the Eugene and Marcia Applebaum Jewish Community Campus. Counting friends, family and supporting staff, over 70 people were in attendance this year.

A little rain on an afternoon in June did nothing to dampen the spirit of Take Pride in Israel Day, which carried on indoors at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. Hundreds arrived, sporting blue and white, and waving flags in a show of support. Israeli music, dance, arts and crafts were the fare.

After 17 years of success, building community in the neighborhoods of Oak Park and Southfield, Federation's Neighborhood Project declared its work officially concluded. A three-day jazz festival was held in celebration at Charlotte Rothstein Park.

On a mission. Taking the lead in planning and recruitment for the National YAD Mission of summer 2003, Detroiters, Laura Hirschhorn and Brad "Bubba" Urdan, served as National Co-Chair and Recruitment Chair respectively. Detroit's YAD delegation represented over a quarter of the total participation.

Thanks to you, Federation's Annual Campaign provides tuition assistance for more than 1000 children in day schools, 1900 in congregational schools.

immigration resettlement, welfare reform and the creation of COJES (Commission on Jewish Eldercare Services). Fred M. Butzel Award

MICHAEL W. MADDIN

Michael W. Maddin – Mickey to all who know him – easily gives credit to others and will readily admit he’s one to resist awards. His selfless, unassuming manner is perhaps one of many reasons he continues to win our community’s esteem. The highest honor Federation can bestow upon its leaders is the Fred M. Butzel Memorial Award, and no one is more worthy of recognition this year than Mickey.

President and Managing Director of Maddin, Hauser, Wartell, Roth and Heller, P.C., Mickey has been practicing law for over 30 years, all the while dedicating himself to his personal mission of community service and philanthropy. President of the United Jewish Foundation from 1995 to 1997 and chair of its Endowment Fund, he was named recipient of the 1998 Endowment Achievement Award of the Council of Jewish Federations/United Jewish Appeal Partnership. Under his leadership, the fund experienced record growth and furthered the development of agency endowment programs.

A history major from the University of Michigan, Mickey received the 1999 Leonard N. Simons History Award for his dedication to preserving Detroit’s Jewish history for future generations, and in recognition for his service as co-chair of Federation’s 100th Anniversary Celebration.

For Mickey, making connections has always been the means to fulfilling his desire to make a difference. In every phase of his long career with Federation/ Foundation he has taken the lead, coming up through the ranks, as president of the Junior Division, an officer of the Annual Campaign, president of the Fresh Air Society, and founder of the Michael and Donna Family Camps at Grand Resort. A family man whose concept of family embraces the entire community, Mickey lives in West Bloomfield with his wife, Donna. They are the proud parents of a daughter and three sons.

Millennium Campaign for Detroit's Jewish Future

Initiated in 1998 by the Jewish Federation and the United Jewish Foundation, The Millennium Campaign for Detroit's Jewish Future will further Jewish education, Jewish identity and Detroit's Jewish life for generations to come. These funds of $1 million and more were established to promote Jewish continuity and identity through the creation of The Jewish Life Fund and associated field of interest funds and to redevelop and transform the Jewish Community Center.
